STILL MORE TO COME

Today's Record Fair event is sandwiched between two visits to Bromborough , the next being on Saturday 13th October. We have some great feedback for this venue and look forward to another enjoyable day on the Wirral next time out.

13th OCTOBER IS ALSO A BIG DAY!

As well as our Record Fair in Bromborough it is also Cassette Store Day and National Album Day, we will be celebrating both at our next event
Here is some background to Cassette Store Day & National Album Day

CASSETTE STORE DAY

The first Cassette Store Day took place on 7th September 2013 and featured more than 28 shops that stocked special limited-edition cassettes. There was a certain romance back in the days when we used to play cassette tapes instead of digital music. This will be celebrated on Saturday 13th October with a raft of Limited edition cassettes releases.

*New Cassette sales have seen a surge over the last few years, with many bands committing their albums to tape alongside Vinyl and CD releases.

NATIONAL ALBUM DAY

The first ever National Album Day will be taking place on Saturday 13th October 2018 .The event will be a national celebration of our love of the album format- new and classic and across all genres -as it evolves in response to the changes we are seeing in music consumption. 2018 marks the 70th anniversary of the format.

Celebrating not only its iconic heritage but the art of the album and its future. To engage a new generation of music fans, underline its ongoing integrity and value to artists and stimulate and sustain album sales going forward.
